

Nicholle Jones Edwards Joins Phillips Murrah to Lead Family Law Practice

Established Family Law Attorney, Nicholle Jones Edwards and Robert Campbell Join Business Law Firm, Phillips Murrah, to Serve Clients' Personal and Professional Legal Needs

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK, NOVEMBER 4, 2013 – Phillips Murrah is pleased to announce that, attorney Nicholle Jones Edwards, has joined the firm and will chair its new Family Law Practice. Edwards, along with family-law attorneys Robert Campbell and Kenneth Tillotson, will complement the firm's tax and estate planning practice areas, expanding the firm's capacity to resolve personal legal matters. Though widely recognized as a firm that represents the interests of businesses, the addition of a Family Law practice provides Phillips Murrah the ability to collaboratively meet the needs of its clients, where their business and personal needs intersect.

Edwards, who brings an established, well-respected family law practice, with an emphasis in representing clients in divorce, asset valuation, and custody matters, was most-recently a partner with the Oklahoma City law firm of Mullins, Hirsch, Edwards, Heath, White, & Martinez PC. She has served as the co-chair of the Oklahoma County Bar Association's Family Law Section and is a speaker on family law issues.

"As a family law attorney, I have the great fortune of positively influencing the lives of my clients through a period of crisis," said Edwards. "I have an opportunity to make a difference in their lives and the lives of their children and families."

"Through representing businesses, we develop trusted personal relationships that are highly-valued throughout our clients' personal and professional lives. Realizing the connection between the two is key to the longevity of any firm,” said Tom Wolfe, president and managing partner of Phillips Murrah.

The Family Law Practice Group will offer services in all aspects of family law including: divorce, child custody, child visitation, alimony, child support, property division, division of retirement benefits, tax consequences of divorce, paternity, prenuptial agreements, and all ancillary matters surrounding divorce.

About Phillips Murrah

Phillips Murrah is represented by more than 65 attorneys, 20 practice areas, and is one of Oklahoma’s leading business law firms. The Firm is recognized for providing multidisciplinary legal services in matters involving virtually all aspects of business law and litigation. Our attorneys are trusted legal advisors and strategic partners, focused on our clients’ objectives, and helping them achieve their goals. For more information, visit: www.phillipsmurrah.com