Five teams of Phillips Murrah employees, families and friends showed off their bowling talents to celebrate the firm's fundraising efforts toward Big Brothers Big Sisters' Bowl for Kids' Sake annual event.

Heritage Lanes welcomed Phillips Murrah for the firm's night of bowling on May 14, made possible by donations from firm employees and members of Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Phillips Murrah Director Byrona Maule spearheaded the campaign, raising $3,700.

"Bowl For Kids' Sake is the single largest fund raiser for Big Brothers Big Sisters – it's a great way to provide financial support for matches and the bowling party is a lot of fun," Byrona said. "It was an easy decision on my part to facilitate Phillips Murrah's participation in BFKS! "

The firm hosts a series of events and raffle drawings to garner support for the BBBS campaign.

"I've been a Big Sister/volunteer for Big Brothers Big Sisters for the vast majority of the last twenty five years," Byrona said. "The children I have mentored are bright, intelligent, caring people who just needed an additional adult in their lives to help them through the unfortunate challenges that underprivileged children face. After experiencing first-hand the changes that having a mentor can have on a child's life, it's become my passion to do everything in my power to help provide a mentor to every child who needs one – and that takes financial resources.
