

Phillips Murrah attorneys volunteer for Cavett Kids Foundation

Phillips Murrah Directors Nicholle Jones Edwards and Kayce L. Gisinger were on site at The Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center on July 6 to lend a helping hand to the children heading to Camp Cavett, including passing out camp T-shirts, helping with luggage, and passing out luggage tags to help the camp check-in process go smoothly.

Chance Pearson, OCBA Community Service Committee Chair, with Director Nicholle Jones Edwards, Jenna and Claudette Greenway, Cavett Kids Board Member.

The Cavett Kids Foundation serves hundreds of children with various life-threatening and chronic illnesses every year.

Among other things, the Cavett Foundation provides a unique summer camp experience that meets the medical needs of its campers without distracting from the fun of summer camp.

Phillips Murrah attorneys, along with other volunteers from the Oklahoma County Bar Association's Community Service

Committee, assisted campers and their families through the check-in process and saw the kids off to camp.

“Just because a child suffers from a life-threatening or chronic illness doesn’t mean they shouldn’t have the opportunity to go to summer camp,” one attorney said. “What a heartwarming sight it was to see the look on each of the kids’ faces as they walked (or ran) to the summer camp check-in stations.”
