

Phillips Murrah Director Janet Hendrick mentioned in Power Players: Women Leading in Law

CENTER FOR WOMEN IN LAW

POWERPLAYERS

WOMEN LEADING IN LAW

Phillips Murrah Director and employment attorney Janet A. Hendrick was mentioned in the October edition of Power Players: Women Leading in Law newsletter, published by University of Texas at Austin School of Law's Center for Women in Law.

Women (em)powered.

At Phillips Murrah, we believe the ability to thrive in the workplace is not based on gender. For over 30 years, we have elevated attorneys based on skill and talent. We're proud to be leaders, both statewide and nationally, in our number of female partners.

PM PHILLIPS MURRAH P.C.
Attorneys and Counselors at Law

The Power of a Strategic Partner. | Offices in Oklahoma City and Dallas | philipsmurrah.com

Click to view at full size

The mention was regarding Janet's move to Phillips Murrah's Dallas office.

Janet is deeply committed to the advancement of women in the legal profession. She has been an active member of the National Association of Women Lawyers and the Dallas Women Lawyers Association, and is a thought leader and sought-after speaker on gender diversity in the legal profession.

With the addition of Janet, over 40 percent of Phillips Murrah's Directors are women, more than twice the national average for large law firms. A significant number of women fill leadership roles at the Firm, including three of the four positions on the Executive Committee.

"I am impressed with the dynamic people at the Firm, especially the leadership," Janet said of her motivation to join Phillips Murrah. "I'm also excited about the plans for the Dallas office and thrilled to be a part of building the future of the Firm."