"I became involved in the OCBA through the Young Lawyers' Board and through that was able to see the impact the OCBA had in the OKC community and throughout its membership," Cooper said. "I was also able to build relationships with other attorneys and judges who practice in Oklahoma County and I enjoyed and appreciated getting to speak colleagues outside a professional setting."

OCBA members elected Cooper to the Board of Directors in 2018 and later voted to elect him Vice President in 2021. These roles follow his service as Past Chair of OCBA's Young Lawyers Division through 2019.
