BIOGRAPHY

Jason A. Dunn is a Director and a member of the Firm's Litigation Practice Group. He represents individuals and both privately-held and public companies with an emphasis in complex business and commercial litigation matters.

His practice includes prosecuting and defending claims ranging from trade secrets, patents and intellectual property, deceptive trade practices and unfair competition, securities registrations and transfers, receivership law and fraudulent transfer ("claw backs"), and contracts and regulatory interplay with contracts with an emphasis in the energy sector relating to oil and gas exploration and production, oilfield services and renewable energy such as wind power.

Jason's accomplishments in an array of commercial litigation and appellate matters have earned him recognition as one of Oklahoma's Rising Stars by the publishers of Law & Politics magazine. Prior to joining Phillips Murrah in 2009, he practiced complex commercial litigation for five years with a well-established Kansas City law firm with an emphasis in reinsurance litigation, including facultative and treaty reinsurance.
