Biography

Cindy Hastie Murray is a Director and a member of the Firm's Real Estate and Land Use Practice Group. She is a transactional attorney who represents individuals as well as privately-held and public companies in a wide range of commercial real estate matters, including purchasing and selling commercial real estate and assisting both landlords and tenants in leasing matters.

While still in law school, Cindy co-authored The ABC's of the UCC: Related and Supplementary Consumer Law, ABA 1999 with Professor Frederick H. Miller. After graduating law school, Cindy clerked for the late Justice Marian P. Opala at the Oklahoma Supreme Court prior to entering private practice.

Born in Arlington Heights, Illinois, and raised in the Oklahoma City area, Cindy lives in Norman with her family including several rescue cats and dogs. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time with her sons and family friends, listening to audio books, trying new recipes, cultivating potted plants, gardening and following Sooner sports.
