Biography

Ally A. Mayberry is a Phillips Murrah associate focused on transactional and intellectual property matters, with a focus on technology, cybersecurity, and corporate and finance work. She takes an adaptable approach to client service, tailoring her counsel to each client's specific needs and the matter at hand.

Ally earned her Bachelor of Business Administration from the University of Oklahoma, where she studied Entrepreneurship and Venture Management and Marketing, before earning her Juris Doctor from Georgetown University Law Center. During law school, she served as Treasurer of the Student Intellectual Property Law Association and Co-President of the Native American Law Students Association. Before joining Phillips Murrah, she gained experience in the Office of General Counsel at the Chickasaw Nation Department of Commerce, the Native American Rights Fund in Washington, D.C., and as a research assistant at Georgetown Law, focusing on intellectual property and emerging technologies.

Outside the office, Ally volunteers with Toby Keith Kids Korral. Born and raised in Norman, she now lives in Oklahoma City and enjoys playing guitar, running, and cheering on the Sooners and the Thunder.
